Moreover, the capital increase resolution shall expressly state, for the relevant legal purposes, that in the event the exclusion from listing of the Company's shares from listing is requested subsequently, it shall be done with the formalities required by applicable legislation and, in that case, the interest of the shareholders that object to or do not vote in favor of the resolution shall be guaranteed, and the requirements established in the Corporate Enterprises Law, the Securities Market Law and other related provisions or implementing regulations shall be met.

The delegation also includes the attribution to the Board of Directors of the power to decide in each case the conditions for redemption of the securities issued pursuant to this authorization, being able to use, to the extent applicable, the means for repurchase referred to in article 430 of the Corporate Enterprises Law or any others that may apply. Moreover, the Board of Directors is authorized, where it deems advisable, and conditional on obtaining the necessary official authorizations and, as appropriate, on the agreement of the Assemblies of the relevant syndicates or representative bodies of the holders of the securities, to modify the conditions of the securities issued and their respective terms and the interest rate, if any, accrued by the securities included in each of the issues pursuant to this authorization.

5. Bases and forms of conversion and/or exchange.- For the case of issues of convertible and/or exchangeable securities (including debt securities or bonds), and for the purpose of determining the bases and forms of conversion and/or exchange, it is resolved to establish the following criteria:
 - a) The securities issued pursuant to this resolution will be exchangeable for shares in the Company or in any other company belonging or not to its group, and/or convertible in newly issued shares in the Company, according to a fixed or variable, determined or determinable, conversion and/or exchange rate, and the Board of Directors is authorized to determine whether they are convertible and/or exchangeable, and to determine whether they are mandatorily or voluntarily convertible and/or exchangeable, and if they are so voluntarily, whether at the election of their holder and/or of the Company, with the periodicity and during the period established in the resolution to issue securities.
 - b) The Board of Directors may also establish, where the securities to be issued are convertible and exchangeable, that the issuer reserves the right to choose, at any time, between the conversion in new shares or their exchange for issued shares in the Company, specifying the nature of the shares to be delivered at the time of the conversion or exchange, even being able to choose to deliver a combination of newly issued shares and preexisting shares in the Company, including settling the difference in cash.

- c) For the purpose of the conversion and/or exchange, the securities shall be valued at their nominal value (including, as appropriate, outstanding interest accrued), and the shares at the fixed exchange rate established in the resolution of the Board of Directors in which this authorization is used, or at the variable exchange rate to be determined on the date/s indicated in the actual resolution of the Board of Directors, according to the stock market value of the shares in the Company on the date/s or in the period/s used as a reference in the same resolution, with additional paid-in capital or a discount, if any, although if a discount is established on the price per share, it cannot exceed 25% of the value of the shares taken as a reference in accordance with the provisions established previously.
 - d) The share value, for purposes of the rate of conversion of debt securities into shares, may not in any case be below the nominal value of the shares. Additionally, according to article 415 of the Corporate Enterprises Law, debt securities convertible into shares may not be issued where the nominal value of the debt securities is below that of the shares.
6. Bases and forms of exercise of the warrants and other similar securities.- With regard to the issue of warrants, to which the provisions of the Corporate Enterprises Law relating to convertible debt securities apply by analogy, the Board of Directors is authorized to determine, on its broadest terms in relation to the bases and terms and conditions applicable to the exercise of the warrants, the criteria applicable to the exercise of the pre-emptive subscription right of newly issued shares in the Company or of acquisition of issued shares in the Company, derived from this type of securities issued pursuant to the delegation granted. - a) The power, in accordance with article 511 of the Corporate Enterprises Law, to exclude, totally or partially, the shareholders' pre-emptive subscription right, fulfilling the legal requirements established for that purpose. In any case, if it is decided to exercise the power to suppress the pre-emptive subscription right, the Board, when approving the issue and according to applicable legislation, will issue a report detailing the specific reasons of corporate interest that justify that measure, which will be the subject of a correlative report by an independent expert, in accordance with articles 414.2, 417.2 and 511 of the Corporate Enterprises Law.

- b) The power to increase the capital by the amount necessary to meet the requests of conversion and/or exercise of the pre-emptive subscription right. This authorization to increase the capital includes the power to issue and place in the market, in one or more transactions, the shares representing the capital needed to make the conversion and/or exercise the share subscription right, and to amend the wording of the articles of the Bylaws in relation to the capital stock figure and number of shares and to, as appropriate, render null the portion of that capital increase not needed for the conversion and/or exercise of the share pre-emptive subscription right.
 - c) The power to develop and specify the bases and forms of conversion, exchange and/or exercise of the rights of subscription and/or acquisition of shares derived from the securities to be issued, taking into account the criteria established in paragraphs 5 and 6 above.
 - d) The delegation to the Board of Directors entails the broadest powers as may be required by law for the interpretation, application, execution and development of the resolutions to issue convertible or exchangeable securities or warrants, in one or more transactions, and the relevant capital increase, including the power to remedy and supplement the resolutions in any aspect necessary and for the fulfillment of as many requirements as may be legally required to fully execute them, and the Board is authorized to remedy omissions or deficiencies in those resolutions, as stipulated by any authorities, public officials or bodies, national or foreign, also being authorized to adopt as many resolutions and execute as many public or private documents as deemed necessary or advisable to adapt the resolutions to issue convertible or exchangeable securities or warrants and of the relevant capital increase to fulfill oral or written assessments by the Companies Registrar or, in general, by any other competent authorities, public officers or national or foreign institutions.
